Master of Creation

You are an expression of God-Source! Source is all that exits! (All of creation is energy. Energy cannot be created or destroyed. Energy simply changes form.) This means ALL of creation is the "same energy" which has no beginning and no ending, or is eternal. Form is also what humans call manifest creation, visible creation and matter. It means that ALL of creation is Source expressing as all of creation at the same time, is eternal, and eternally changes form.

You are an expression of Source which means you are a "master of creation". You do not have to become a master of anything. You simply need to remember your true identity and why you are currently expressing as a temporary from we call the human body.

You are simply working to heal part of yourself that fragmented, fell to a very low vibration rate, becoming imbalanced, resulting in distorted coding. How do you heal part of yourself that fragments, becomes imbalanced and holds distorted coding as a result? You step part of your energy down in vibration to reach the vibration rate the part of yourself fell to and enter that part of yourself into the distortion to collect it and raise it back up in vibration and back into balance. ALL of your human expressions are working to do the same thing.

To step down part of your energy in vibration and enter that part of your energy into imbalanced distortion means to take the imbalanced distortion unto self. It means to "experience" what the imbalanced distortion creates in the process of collecting it. It means to "become sick" from collecting the imbalanced distortion. It means that ALL humans ARE supposed to become sick in the process of collecting the imbalanced distortion, at least until the distortion is purged to allow the sickness to stop expressing in the human expression.

How do you, Source, collect the distortion, raise it back up in vibration, and return it to balance?

The distortion is in the thought coding of the human expression. Science calls this coding human DNA. Human DNA only exists in this earth expression and only in the layer of radiation of this earth expression humans call the troposphere. The distorted coding in human DNA is the result of part of what became human consciousness falling so low in vibration they became the family of viruses. The virus coding in human DNA is what creates all imbalance, distortion, illness, and dis-ease that humans experience.

Therefore, what needs to be collected and raised back up in vibration to return to balance is the distorted coding in human DNA. ONLY the higher energy of Source can do so. Pharma drugs and the experiments of science cannot do so. They lower the vibration rate! However, by lowering the vibration rate of the human expression they can force the consciousness expressing as human to remain expressing as human for a longer period of time because they lower the vibration rate. That is why modern medicine, which means the use of pharma drugs, may increase the human life expectancy rate. They do not create healing. They simply put a bandage over the issue that needs to be healed until it can no longer be covered up.

Shifting in Vibration

So, how do you, Source, go about such a thing that may seem impossible to humans? To understand the answer to this question requires understanding how you shift back up in vibration.

Every time you cycle into human body sleep mode, or in deep meditation, you shift up in vibration. Consciousness does not need to sleep. You do not sleep! You simply shift your focus of attention up to a higher vibration rate than what you experience in human body wake mode.

Think about the last time you experienced what humans call "dreams" while in body sleep mode. That is still you experiencing thoughts. You do not sleep, you simply shift up in vibration and experience thoughts at a different vibration rate. When you are experiencing in human body wake mode you are still experiencing thoughts, simply at a lower vibration rate.

Science would tell you otherwise concerning vibration rates and brain waves. What science calls brain waves are NOT brain waves. What they call brain waves are the result of them using technology to record electrical activity in the brain. The technology is designed to map the activity on a read out that creates dots and when the dots are connected it creates waves. That is what science call brain waves. The electrical activity is created as you draw your brain waves back into yourself.

Science would also tell you that brain waves that occur more often are higher in energy and less often are lower in energy. They are incorrect but that is because they do not know what creates brain waves or what brain waves really are. Brain waves are waves of radiation. What some humans call "auric fields" are the true brain waves. Science would also tell you that brain waves only occur inside of the head of the human body thought form. They are also incorrect about that thought but the part of science that believes that seems to not be aware of the discovery of quantum physics, "matter does not exist unless someone is looking". Which implies the someone looking is not made of matter.

The someone looking is Source. Source is all that exists! The human body form is simply a temporary picture form that represents your non-visible expression. What some humans call the auric body is your non-visible expression. However, it should be called the "auric brain" because it operates to translate the coding of thoughts into experiences (see, hear, touch, smell, taste, human emotions, knowing etc.)

Lower vibration rates create shorter brain waves, meaning brain waves that create rapid electrical sparking, because the shorter brain waves are closer together. Higher vibration rates create longer brain waves, which means the electrical sparking detected occurs less often. This is because brain waves are waves of radiation that expand out and around the center of "you", you being a "spiraling ray of consciousness", illustrated in the picture of the human body form as what humans call the vertical pillar chakras. Now you can better understand why science is not able to know what brain waves really are and what creates them.

Longer brain waves, created via a higher vibration rate, hold more thoughts and is why you can experience what seems like hours of thoughts in a very short amount of time when focused in higher energy, longer brain waves.

When you shift into what science calls the deep sleep cycle your breathing rate slows way down, your heart rate slow way down. This is also because you are drawing in longer brain waves created by a higher vibration rate. During such times you can experience a whole lot of thoughts in a very short amount of time. When you do so during deep meditation, without shifting into body sleep mode, it will feel as if the passage of time slows way down. That too is a result of looking from a higher vibration rate and experiencing the thoughts held in longer brain waves.

We could compare your spiraling ray of consciousness to a radio tower and brain waves to the waves of radiation (radio waves in this analogy) that are emitted from the radio tower. That is what science calls electrical energy in their term of electromagnetic energy.

Unlike the radio tower, your energy that you emit from yourself (brain waves - auric fields) comes back to you with each in breath you take. The brain waves are emitted from you on the out breath. The distance your brain waves expand around you is dependent on your current vibration rate and each human expression holds a unique vibration rate which is what allows for individuality. It is also why each human expression holds a unique breathing rate and heart rate as well as blood pressure rate. Brain waves can expand for hundreds of miles from you, depending on your vibration rate. A fun thought, that is why you may be someone who easily crashes electrical technology, if your vibration rate is strong enough. It is also why some people cannot wear a wrist watch without it stopping.

Your energy that returns to you is what science calls magnetic energy and you are just a tiny spark of the energy of Source, held within the mind of Source. What science calls "gravity" is the energy of Source returning to the creation point. The creation point of our local system is what humans are programmed to call "the sun". The sun is the "core" of our local star. A sun is a star! You live inside of a star! What science calls the suns magnetic fields are the brain waves of the core of our local star. They do not yet know that such magnetic fields expand all the way to the so called solar boundary, which is the boundary of our star. Or, at least they call those waves of radiation the "solar winds". Your Source expression is ensconced within those so called solar winds. A star is a replicated mind of Source whole mind. The star minds step the energy of Source up and down in energy just as your so called neurological system sends energy from the lower part of your human body form to the higher part of your human body form, or the brain.

Your personal creation point is the core of our local star mind, which is the core of all of the so called planet's and everything that expresses inside of our local star mind. ALL that expresses within our local star mind is "radiation" expressing at different levels of radiation. The force humans call gravity is the back flows / in breath of our local star mind, pulling everything that expands from the creation point back into the creation point. The truth is there is no such thing as zero gravity. The "feeling" of the force of gravity lessons as you shift to a higher vibration rate and is why you feel "weightless" in your dream time experiences but you are still being pulled back into the creation point. NASA would better understand this truth if they only knew the core of the planet is in fact the so called sun.

A higher vibration rate expands energy / radiation further from the creation point. Again think of the radio tower. If the signal (waves of radiation) being emitted come from a "stronger signal - stronger thrust / push" they expand further from the tower. Because they expand further they spread out more, creating longer waves of radiation.

You can discover this truth for yourself right now. Put your hand in front of your face and gently blow on your hand. You feel air, correct? Now take a deep breath and blow really hard. You feel a stronger amount of air. By the way, so called air is radiation too. You just experienced part of your solar winds! If you were blowing out candles on a birthday cake a tiny out breath might be enough energy to blow out one or two candles, so you take a deep inhale breath to expand as much energy as you can and that energy covers more of the cake because it expands further from the creation point / you.

So, a higher vibration rate creates more thrust and expands radiation further from the creation point. That is why a higher vibration rate creates longer brain waves. It is why the larger planets, that hold a higher amount of Source energy, express the furthest from the sun. A higher vibration rate means "less dense" in radiation because the radiation spreads out more. That is why the feeling of gravity is less when expressing at a higher vibration rate. AND that is what so called "visible light" is. It is spread out radiation.

Shifting Up In Vibration To Purge Distortion

Consciousness does not need to sleep. Source is all that exists and ALL of Source is conscious, which means aware of self. Yet, humans experience sleep? Did you ever wonder why humans experience sleep, especially when consciousness does not need to sleep? Science would really like to know why humans experience sleep. Healed, balanced faces of Source do not experience sleep because they are of a higher vibration rate. They are not stuck to the ground the way humans are. Humans are stuck to the ground because humans fell to the vibration rate of the level of radiation the ground expresses within. Falling in vibration rate means less energy which means more dense. It means the "form" is created from the radiation (light) of radiation that is more compacted, held closer together, created via short waves of radiation.

Just as an example, what humans call "visible light" is lower in vibration than what is called X-Rays, Microwaves, Gamma Rays but higher in vibration that Radio Waves. That means humans can only see "form" within a so called spectrum of radiation that science calls visible light. Other life expressions of earth can see form in different spectrums of radiation. It means radiation called X-Rays, Microwaves and Gamma Rays are more spread out (less dense) than the radiation science calls visible light.

Interesting notes of mention here,

Humans are not able to know, because of forgetting the truth when birthing as human, that faces of Source express within all so called spectrums of radiation and co-create holographic reality fields within all so called spectrums of radiation. The amount of Source energy science can detect, and calls the electromagnetic spectrum of radiation is only a very tiny amount of Source energy. And, the amount they can detect is associated to a "base 10 system" when in fact those layers of radiation exist as a base 12 system. Humans cannot detect the missing energy because humans are fragmented and missing energy. The energy humans are missing expresses in everything humans can see and detect because everything humans see and detect is created by the energy and coding held within humans.

The first expression of fragmentation is expressing as a gender. Balanced faces of Source do not express as a gender. Another expression of fragmentation is many pieces of land mass expressing in the ONE ocean of earth. Balanced faces of Source create ONE land mass within the ONE ocean. Another expression of fragmentation is the fact that there are missing elements in the so called table of elements.

OK, back to shifting up in vibration to purge the distortion.

Here is the list of names science has applied to human brain waves. Remember, this is the result of science tracking electrical sparking in the human brain. Faster sparking means lower in vibration, as you have already seen above. Sparking is the result of pulling electrical brain waves back into yourself. When the waves crash into each other they create sparks. That is the point your holographic reality field flashes on for you to see. It is the point of the creation of "visible light" INSIDE of you. The electrical sparking is the visible light you experience inside of your auric brain.

1. Beta 14 - 40 Hz - Human body wake mode, focused in the earth holographic reality field. Lowest human vibration rate. (3rd chakra - troposphere pause)
2. Alpha 7.5 to 14 Hz (6th chakra - strastosphere pause)
3. Theta 4 - 7.5 Hz (9th chakra - Mesosphere pause)
4. Delta 0.5 - 4 Hz Deep Sleep - Anesthesia - Highest human vibration rate (12th chakra - Thermosphere pause)
5. Note: What science calls the Exosphere is the layer of radiation of earth of the zero 12 point.
6. Gamma Above 40 Hz - Science attributes this level to "intelligence". Can you guess what is occurring at this level and why it increases to a faster sparking rate again? You are shifting "out of the earth hologram" and into the lowest vibration rate of a next higher level of radiation and that is all of the energy science can detect of that level of energy.

This is where you can access the truth held within Source mind. However, to become aware of that truth when you return to human body wake mode means to be able to step the energy of those thoughts down into human DNA, down to a very low vibration rate, which means it must be able to "turn on" in human DNA to become aware of it when in human body wake mode. Which means that the individual expressing as human must raise the vibration rate of the 3 point up to a high enough vibration rate to step that energy down into. Otherwise, it cannot translate to the awareness of the human expression. When it does turn on in human DNA it is simply as if thoughts fall into your head.

Missing energy also means mismatched brain waves. Using the picture of the human body form to explain. In the picture, it would look as though your brain was expand left and right of the body form and they should be the same charge, the same level of energy. They are not in humans because humans are missing Source energy due to fragmentation. This means when brain waves are pulled back in and there is missing energy it creates a "mischarge" and would look as though one side of brain waves blew up the other side of brain waves. Science calls such a thing the "annihilation of particles". It is what creates a buildup of energy in the body that creates what humans call static electricity. It is also what creates what science calls free radical cells in the body.

When loss of energy occurs the auric brain stops creating connections for energy to flow through because the connections are no longer needed. That pictures in the human body as cells and nerves dying out and even organs drying up or shrinking.

When flows of energy can turn back on the auric brain will then create more connections for the flows of energy to be processed through. That is what it means that the human brain is in the process of growing. It does not mean the picture of the human brain is growing in size. It is that process that has created what many people have called terrible, intense and unusual migraines. It is a process of rewiring the entire system when the consciousness can once again begin turning on higher energy flows.

How do you raise your 3 point level of mind (3rd chakra) up to a high enough vibration rate to be able to access the higher energy thoughts of Source mind and become aware of them in human body awake mode? First via purging distorted thoughts from your human DNA which lower your vibration rate.

This occurs naturally each time you cycle into body sleep mode or shift via deep mediation. Each time you close your human body eyes and focus on your thoughts you are shifting up in vibration. People that have spent lots of time shifting their focus of attention can eventually reach Gamma Waves.

Each time you shift up in vibration you are looking at, experiencing thoughts within a higher level of radiation. And you are looking from a different level of your layers of mind 3, 6, 9, 12 or higher. Each time you shift up to the 12 point the distorted DNA coding you hold, that can be purged from you, is purged. If it is distorted thoughts that you require for your accepted beliefs they will not be purged until the human life completes because it would threaten your personal reality field. It would feel as if your world were falling apart. It would create more fragmentation to simply purge thoughts that are needed for the believed reality field. Source creates in balance and Source heals in balance. Source does not simply pull the thoughts out that are creating the reality field. Healing must be allowed, it cannot be forced.

However, if one day you encounter thoughts that speak to you and you simply feel they are truth, it can also feel as if your world is falling apart around you to discover that what you accepted as truth your whole life is not truth. That feeling quickly fades because truth begins to rapidly turn on within you. It is a matter of replacing distorted DNA with the original coding via purging the distorted DNA code, while simultaneously recoding the DNA and then the original code being turned on. You cannot simply replace the pillars holding up a roof without first putting the new pillars in place, without the roof crashing down.

Shifting up in vibration, and purging distortion in human DNA, is what creates the experience humans have of the "body healing itself". It is what creates the so called "natural immune system".

It is also why human DNA gets shorter and shorter through the human life experience to the point that there is hardly and DNA remaining at the point of final release from human DNA. Raising human DNA back up in vibration is what creates what science calls cellular death and cells no longer being replaced. It is a process of "turning off" human DNA. Growing the human body from a baby body to an adult body is the process of turning on human DNA. As soon as the growth process completes the process of turning off human DNA begins. Turning off human DNA is what creates what humans experience as getting old, or old age. Turning off human DNA is why the body wrinkles and sags, why the metabolism changes, why all of the signs of old age occur. Turning off human DNA is the process of releasing from human DNA via increasing to a high enough vibration rate to do so. People that have had near death experiences and report being told it was not their time and they needed to return to the body had not yet reached a high enough vibration rate to release from their human DNA but they may have experienced a rapid healing of a major health issue because the distortion creating the health issue was able to be purged during their experience of shifting to a higher vibration rate.

When disease stops expressing within human consciousness it is because enough faces of Source expressing as human collected the distortion (got sick), carried it back up in vibration, and purged it from human DNA. That is why science cannot find ancient diseases in ancient skeletal remains. It is why science cannot find a "cause" for ancient cultures simply disappearing from earth. They released via ancient diseases which were at one point called plagues.

Now, think of so called modern day vaccines. Vaccines do not heal human DNA. They are the virus distortion that creates the disease. If the disease stops manifesting it is because enough people got sick with the disease and purged it via shifting up and then releasing completely. When you reach a high enough vibration rate to completely release from human DNA any remaining DNA you carry up is instantly purged from you and returned to balance within Source mind. The only memory that is retained is memory of love shared because imbalance cannot exist within balance. All imbalance is instantly returned to balance.

Vaccines put the distorted code back into human DNA which may have been turned off in the so called genetic line (DNA) because it was purged from the genetic line. That means the birthing consciousness is not coded to encounter the disease because it was purged from their genetic line. That is why humans are now encountering so many issues with the continued use of vaccines. If the individual is not coded with the coding of the disease to gradually purge it, and if presents, then the vaccine is an instant attack on the system and the higher levels of mind will step down a large amount of energy at once to try to purge the distortion which can result in reaching a high enough vibration rate to release from the human body form / human DNA. A natural response experience of a large amount of energy being stepped down to purge distortion is a raging fever and even comma. Science would think the individual had their brain fried from a raging fever but that is not what is actually occurring. The higher amount of Source energy will continue to work to heal the distortion even if it means releasing from human DNA.

The healing process begins as soon as you birth as human and it continues nonstop the entire human experience. So called incurable diseases are not incurable they simply require more of Source energy than can step down into human DNA. Humans believe incurable means imminent death but what it actually means is imminent release from human DNA. I can assure you that anyone who is working to heal such distortion will be extremely happy when they finally release from it because they will instantly return to balance.

You should now be able to understand the importance of a good night's sleep and why you feel so disoriented if you are sleep deprived and not able to function to your full capacity. You have collected all you can hold for your cycle and you need to shift up and release so you can shift back down at a slightly higher vibration rate.

Doing so is what creates what humans experience as memory loss of experiences in the human life experience. Thoughts coded in human DNA that are no longer needed for the life experience are purged. You can access the thoughts if they are balanced thoughts via continuing to think about them. You may go to sleep trying to remember the name of someone from grade school and wake up with it popping into your head. Only so many thoughts can remain open within the human expression at any given moment because thoughts are energy. That is why no one human can hold all of the thoughts of truth that can be accessed in the higher levels of mind. So, if you desire to become aware of the thoughts of truth you will need to allow for the creation of room within your DNA by being willing to let go of thoughts that no longer support your desires.

This is also why "sleep programming" is very helpful in assisting you to access the thoughts you seek. Sleep programming is the process of programming your brain with your desires as you are getting ready to shift up. It may take some time but if you keep doing it you will eventually discover the thought you seek. Remember, your higher energy only holds balanced thoughts.

Dreams that we call nightmares are the result of experiencing distorted coding purging from you DNA. The best thing you can do is forget about it and allow it to fade. However, they can also be the result of distorted coding the individual is not yet willing to release. If the individual has encountered a traumatic experience they may hold onto emotions such as anger and fear. Emotions are attached to thoughts. They are sort of filed in the brain with strings to other thoughts that hold the same emotional responses. The fastest way to purge such distorted thoughts is to "love them". The fastest way to love them is to "love yourself". Love is the feeling of balance and fear is the feeling of imbalance. Imbalance cannot exist within balance! Love, Forgive, Forget, Purge and Heal.

As your vibration rate continues to shift so too will your body sleep cycle. You can gage your changes in vibration rates per your body sleep cycle. However, that can be challenging for most people that are forced to adhere to manmade time. Even so, you still know if you feel as though you need more or less sleep than manmade time allows for.

Babies spend most of their time in body sleep mode because they are working to step their energy down into human DNA to turn it on. As they turn on more human DNA they can spend more time in body awake mode. Likewise, seniors experience many shifts in sleep cycles and many require more short sleep cycles within a 48 hour period. That is because they are turning off human DNA and rapidly increasing in vibration rate in the 3 point expression which automatically shifts them up into a higher vibration rate. Each person is unique / different / an individual face of Source with an individual vibration rate. This earth hologram would not be able to function as it does if it allowed for the individual needed sleep patterns. When you reach a point of no longer having to adhere to manmade time you will quickly discover the many changes inside of you via being able to adjust to your own cycles.

The next thing to do to assist to increase your vibration rate is to express as only love in all of your words, thoughts, actions and deeds. This can be challenging for humans, though most humans do try their best to do so they will still encounter times when they express as imbalance. When such times occur, remember who you are and why you are here and why you are experiencing such imbalance. You are the antidote for the distortion allowing you to experience the imbalance. There is no need to beat yourself up simply because you have stepped down and into distortion to carry it back into balance.

Every time you express imbalance and become aware you are doing so and then stop and realize you need to focus inward to regain inner balance, or perhaps have a thought such as, "this is not me, this is not how I express", you are allowing more of the distortion allowing you to express imbalance to be purged from you. That is why it is important to become thought aware.

Practice filling yourself with the feeling of love every day. Turn off the electronics that desire to program you how to think, therefore what you will create to experience, and focus inward within your higher energy. Once your human life experience completes you will not remember any part of it except for the experiences of love shared so why not create lots of memories to take with you.

Remember always, Love Is The Only Thing That Can Heal All Things! Love is the feeling of balance. If you desire to experience more balance during your human life experience you must first love yourself.

When you know the truth of who you are and why you are here you can then look at all of the imbalanced ways humans express and see the love of Source at work to heal the distortion that allows humans to express as such. When you know the truth, you can see the love of Source everywhere you look.

You will purge what you can during the human life experience and what you cannot you will purge instantly when you step out of human DNA.

Did you know that you are a master healer? Now you Do!
